To whom it concerns,

My name is Alexandru Sulea, I am a third year Computer Engineering student in Trinity College Dublin. I have a great passion for all areas encompassing computer science and engineering. I am currently seeking a summer internship with SIG. As I have previous experience developing apps and programming robots, I have a lot of exposure to interacting with different systems. I enjoy a range of programming language levels, ranging between low to high level of computer programming paradigms. I have built my own computer from parts, and I highly enjoy learning and researching kernels within the Unix operating system paradigm. (am currently in the process of developing my own Linux kernel.) I am a multilingual student and enjoy interacting and working with others on challenging projects, whenever given the opportunity.

Thank you for your time,
Alexandru
